

Art of butchering and cooking explained

Bert Draper, local butcher, makes the initial cut into a carcass of beef, while Grant McEwan, official of the beef producers' association, explains the choice and economical cuts of beef, at a meat forum held at the high school Wednesday.

No "burnt offering" here. Miss Dorothy Britton, home economist from Summerland Experimental Station demonstrated the best way to prepare a roast when she took part in the meat forum conducted at Kelowna high school yesterday. Final step, as shown above, is putting it in the oven and cooking at the correct temperature.

Cooking demonstration

Mr. and Mrs. John Citizen given tips buying choice, economical cuts of meat

Mr. and Mrs. John Citizen were given first rate tips on buying choice and economical cuts of meat at yesterday's meat forum held in the senior high school auditorium.

And if Mrs. Housewife places a tough roast on the Sunday dinner table, friend husband will have every reason to complain that she was not listening carefully to suggestions of Miss Dorothy Britton, home economist, who wound up the day-long session with a demonstration in cooking.

B.C. Beef Growers' Association provided the carcass of beef. Guest speaker was Grant McEwan, secretary-manager of the Canadian Council of Beef Producers (Western Division), who briefly traced the beef industry.

A choice butcher steer runs around 1,000 pounds on the hoof, but when dressed, weight is reduced to 850 pounds, he explained. That accounts for some spread in price from 20 cents a pound on the hoof to choicer cuts of dressed meat at 85 cents, he said. Remarks that price of meat is due to high handling charges at meat packing plants and railway transportation, are unjustified, he stated.

Speaking of the essential characteristics of choice meat, he said that young calves are tender but lack flavor, while the old beef is flavorful but tough. A happy medium is reached in the 1-2 year old in the 900 to 1,000 lb. weight bracket, an animal that is bred for beef purposes. While a great many people do not like the fat on meat, the lean meat next to the fat is more palatable, so the speaker said. Marbling in meat, which is an intermuscular distribution of fat, is one of the best indications of quality. Age of beef is indicated by the color of the meat and the bones. Older beef is characterized by very white bones and dark red meat while young beef is recognizable by its pink colored bones and light colored meat. There again something in between is desirable and a choice piece of meat is a cherry red color with a white-but not chunky white—bone.

Nutritionally, beef is an important part of everyone's diet. While food values of various types, vitamins, fats, carbohydrates, and so on are very high in meat, the important element is its proteins. Only in animal products are proteins found in sufficient quantity and beef is particularly high in this essential compound.

Hospital annual meeting slated next Wednesday

Annual meeting of the Kelowna Hospital Society will be held in the Royal Anne Hotel next Wednesday at 2:00 p.m.

Election of directors and presentation of annual reports will highlight the meeting.

City council inspects pump station

Members of the City council Monday night inspected the rebuilt city pumping station at the creek on Water Street. During the past two years the city has been rebuilding this plant through which passes all the sewerage of the city.

A dry well has been dug and three pumps are now installed, 20, 40 and 50 horsepower capacity. The whole operation is automatic.

Mayor Ladd said that in his opinion the work was very satisfactory and should provide the city with an efficient pumping plant for many years to come.

Alderman Winter said the work was a credit to the engineering staff and it was well laid out.

Mayor Ladd was supported by several aldermen when he suggested that any citizens desiring to inspect the plant, free, be so.

His Worship said they should be encouraged to do so and he hoped that many would take the opportunity of visiting the plant at any time.

ANNUAL BANQUET

Okanagan District Trades and Labor Council will hold its annual banquet and dance at the Canadian Legion Hall Saturday, March 26, at 6:30 p.m.

Negligible damage to fruit trees

Last week's sub-zero temperatures have affected some apricot and peach buds, but in most cases it will save growers thinning later in the season, John Smith, provincial horticulturist, reported this morning.

Some cherries have been hit, but where buds were frozen, it will probably result in extra large cherries on the crop that sets, he explained.

Insofar as apples and pears are concerned, it was too early for the cold weather to cause any appreciable damage. Bulk of the apple crop is grown in the Central Okanagan.

Temperatures in Kelowna dropped to eight below last week, while some outlying areas reported 15 below.

Sixteen-year-old Winfield student, Lani Coller, dies suddenly on school steps

A sixteen-year-old Winfield girl collapsed and died within a few minutes on the steps of Rutland high school Tuesday afternoon.

She was Lani Coller, only daughter of Mrs. Pearl Coller, of Winfield. Death was believed due to a heart condition.

A brilliant student, and interested in all school activities, she was away from school for a couple of days with the flu, but returned earlier in the week. Dr. J. A. Urquhart conducted an autopsy, and is waiting for a report from a Victoria pathologist.

Born in Victoria, she moved to Winfield in 1943. She was popular with classmates; interested in music and played the drums in the high school band.

Funeral services will be conducted from Day's Funeral Home Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. P. H. Mallet officiating. Interment will follow in Kelowna cemetery.

Reception planned for Jim Middleton

A civic reception is planned for Packer forward Jim Middleton who helped Penticton V's capture the world hockey championship. Special meeting is being held this afternoon at three o'clock to finalize details. Middleton is expected home with the V's next Wednesday and will probably continue on to Kelowna after the Penticton reception.

Change of policy

No curbs will be built unless walk on at least one side of the street

Kelowna's sidewalk policy has been changed in some important details. This was forecast last week when the matter was discussed by council which on Monday night took definite action. All aldermen were in favor of the change excepting Mayor J. J. Ladd who felt some "softening" might be in order.

Henceforth council will approve of no local improvement bylaw for a curb unless the street concerned has a sidewalk on at least one side. Commercial sidewalks will have precedence over residential sidewalks. The division of costs between the property owners and the city remains the same.

Two petitions for curbs currently before council are affected. Residents on the west side of Maple and those on the east side of Abbott, from Birch to Morrison had applied for curb construction under the bylaw. Both these will be thrown out under the new policy.

After the discussion one week ago the matter was laid on the table for seven days and when it came up on Monday there was little discussion.

Alderman Maurice Melke said his committee had again considered the report it had made last week and still recommended it.

Mayor Ladd said he felt the building of curbs tended to create a border and tidied up the city, giving it a neater appearance.

Alderman Dick Parkinson agreed but pointed out that if more streets followed the policy adopted by Royal Avenue last year, the city would never have any sidewalks.

"And there is no doubt about it, when a curb is built and people build their lawns to that curb, they come to consider the sidewalk allowance as their property and resent anyone walking on what they think is their property."

Alderman Melke and Parkinson moved the motion that the recommendation of the sidewalk committee be approved. All aldermen, excepting Jack Treadgold, who was absent, voted for the change.

The local improvement bylaw will be changed accordingly.

Include $10,000 in estimates for Kelowna airport

Ten thousand dollars will be included in the estimates of the department of transport, Ottawa, for assistance to the Ellison air field. Kelowna city council has been advised by O. L. Jones, M.P. A similar amount will be included in next year's estimates.

In a letter to council Mr. Jones said that he had been advised to this effect by C. R. Booth, deputy minister of the department of transport.

Ald. Knox, chairman of the airport committee, later stated he thought the money would be used for "preliminary work," leading to the eventual blacktopping. He said he had included $10,000 in his departmental estimates for runway lights.

Peak of influenza epidemic in schools believed reached

Dr. Henderson new president of Rotary Club

Dr. Harold Henderson was elected 1955 president of the Kelowna Rotary Club, and will take office on July 1. Dr. Henderson succeeds Reg Brown.

George Reid was chosen vice-president while directors are Doug Herbert, Dr. A. W. Brown, T. S. Hughes, L. A. N. Potterton, Max de Pytfer.

Load restrictions now in effect

Load restrictions governing trucks went into effect at midnight last night on all roads with the exception of Highway 97.

Restrictions were temporarily lifted when the weather tightened somewhat. Now that frost is again coming out of the ground, provincial public works department has limited loads to 50 percent of capacity. Vehicles with solid tires are also prohibited from using roads.

Board endorses suggested site of band shell

Board of trade has endorsed the location of the proposed band shell in the city park. It will be constructed south of Ogoogo Stadium. Provision will be made for ample parking.

$2,000 collected by Red Cross in current drive

Total of $2,000 has been collected in the current Red Cross drive. Quota for Kelowna and district is $10,500. Campaign in the business and residential areas is in full swing. Officials hope to wind up the drive before the end of the month.

Council meeting jottings

A petition to build a curb on the west side of Richter on Bernard to Clement did not have sufficient signatures to meet the requirements. City Clerk G. Dunn told council on Monday night. On the affected street there are 42 owners holding $15,310 of assessed property. Of these 22 owning assessed property of $7,380, had signed the petition.

Under the bylaw, two-thirds of the number of owners holding at least half the assessed property must approve. The petition was turned back to the petitioners. This curb would not be affected by council's new policy as reported in another story. There are sidewalks being constructed on this street, so curbs are permissible.

Alderman Art Jackson told council that 306 oldtimers had forwarded the coupons to the jubilee committee. Of these 68 had been in the city fifty years or longer. He urged that all such old-timers forward the information as it is very desirable that the committee's information be complete.

Residents in the school area have complained to Mayor Ladd about the parking around the school property. Cars, it is said, are parked in such a manner that entry into residential properties is impossible. Council will write the school board asking that some care and direction be given the parking of cars in this area.

City council will forward official congratulations to Penticton council on the winning of the world championship by the Penticton V's.

Traffic Officer L. A. N. Potterton reported that during February he had issued tickets for 110 infractions resulting in fines of $279 and 69 courtesy warnings to visitors. General traffic conditions are good, he said, and the turn on the red light was working well.

Fire Chief Fred Gore reported that in February he had inspected 73 buildings for fire hazards and issued four warnings. The brigade had answered 28 fire calls while the ambulance had made 28 trips.

The appeal of R. J. Light, 970 Manhattan, against the ruling of the building inspector was granted by the appeal board. Mr. Light had desired to build a workshop on his property but the proposal did not meet the requirements of the city bylaw.

The application of Mrs. A. P. Wright to purchase a lot between Harvey and Leon on Abbott for $1,200 has been tabled until building plans are submitted and approved.

Peak of the influenza epidemic among junior and senior high school students, is believed to have been reached.

School principals in two of the three high schools severely hit, this morning reported there had been no increase in absenteeism, and that some of the students are starting to return to classrooms. A total of 637 pupils are absent from Kelowna junior and senior and Rutland High schools out of a total enrollment around 1500 students. Majority are confined to their homes, although one or two have been taken to hospital.

Dr. D. A. Clarke, medical health officer, did not entirely agree that it is "flu" that has sidelined students. Those who have been hit are in the age group from 11 to 17 years of age, although some adults have also been affected.

Illness generally lasts three to four days. Symptoms are a slight fever, headache, weakness, sore throat and upset stomach.

SAME PATTERN
It follows the same pattern as the illness in Vernon where they labelled it "flu", Dr. Clarke said. "Generally speaking the symptoms are somewhat different from influenza." Incubation period takes about a week, he said.

Last major flu epidemic in this area was in 1949 when hundreds of students were confined to bed. Mild winter is believed to be partly responsible.

Kelowna Junior High School has been hardest hit. This morning there were 314 absent, nine more than Wednesday, out of a total enrollment of 897.

Last Friday there were 133 absent from Kelowna junior high. Monday this figure jumped to 197; Tuesday 262; Wednesday 308 and this morning 314.

OLDER STUDENTS
At Kelowna senior high, 177 were absent yesterday out of 458 students, but the figure dropped to 163 this morning. Rutland junior-senior high reported 160 away this morning.

Principals agreed students around 15 to 17 are affected the most. Only a few of the older students in the elementary school (grade six) have been sidelined.

Dr. Clarke said children complaining of illness should go straight to bed and avoid strenuous physical exercise. If necessary, a physician should be called.

Only one day remains for anti-polio vaccine registrations—TOMORROW.

South Okanagan Health Unit officials remind parents that this inoculation is free, and that tomorrow, Friday, March 11, is the last day for registration.

City studying low-rental housing plan

Method of financing low rental homes for old age pensioners and social allowances cases, is being studied by city council.

Under the scheme, the two senior governments would assist the city in the housing plan. Municipality must service the homes with sewer, water and light.

Social welfare officer Tom Hamilton has advised the city that low rental housing for a limited number of old age pensioners is needed. This need has developed slowly over a period of years, due to:

(a) sale of Person's cabins; (b) city's policy to stop building two houses on one lot; (c) condemning of certain buildings on Harvey Avenue being used as rooming houses for Chinese old age pensioners; (d) and impending sale of Abbott Street property now being used as rooming house for ten Japanese old age pensioners.

Mostly Newtowns, Winesaps in storage in Okanagan

Over 80 per cent of the apples presently in storage consist of Newtowns and Winesaps, with the remainder of the unsold stock comprising Romes, Staymans, Delicious and Red Delicious, B.C. Tree Fruits announced today.

The latest fruit and vegetable storage report issued by the provincial department of agriculture showed 933,867 boxes of apples in storage in the Okanagan.

Tree Fruits reported apple shipments to Western Canada last week were in excess of shipments for the same week last year. There is a fair demand for Newtowns in Eastern Canada, but the total shipments to eastern markets are below last year. McIntosh from the New England states are providing stiff competition even for locally grown Quebec apples, it was reported.

Dealing with U.S. markets, Tree Fruits stated more interest is being shown in Canadian Newtowns. Eastern U.S. markets are also dominated by locally grown supplies and the demand is pretty well confined to higher grades and choice sizes.

Unsold Okanagan stocks of Delicious, Red Delicious and Staymans are all small cee grade, and unsold stocks of Romes are mostly medium and large size cee grade.

Shipments of Winesaps to date have been mostly to the United Kingdom and only a few to U.S. points. Winesaps will start going out to Canadian domestic markets the first of next week.

APPROVE BUILDING

Council has approved the building of a storage and workshop building, by the Little Theatre on the property which that group leases.

Kelowna has active judo club

By GORDON HOBSON

Mention judo or jujitsu and most people will think of Commandos creeping stealthily through the night to relieve an enemy of breath. Those who don't will think of an oriental novelty, invested with an aura of mystery.

Within well-defined limits, both thoughts have some justification. In World War II, armies were taught a form of jujitsu or unarmed defence, and the sport did originate in Japan.

Beyond that, however, most of us, if we have any ideas at all on the subject, have the wrong ideas. Our biggest mistake, perhaps, is associating it with the evils of war and failing to recognize it as both a sport and a way of life. A sport which finds thousands of adherents on all continents; a sport in which being a gentleman means more than physical ability; a sport in which the mind must grow with the body.

"Judo," said Eddie Sakamoto, former vice-president of the Kelowna Judo Club, "judo is the art of applying one's physical and mental energy most effectively to life. Its secret is mastered by training and cultivating both body and mind through exercises."

Easy to say but not quite so easy to understand. A visit, however, to the Kelowna Judo Club, founded in 1952, is worth a million words. There, more than forty enthusiastic judokas of all ages and of varying experience, prove to the visitor that there is much more to the sport than being thrown around.

It's not strength, but that all-important "know how" that matters. Student judoist Judy Yamabe, 120 lbs., proves this as she throws Kaz Iwasaki, 170 lbs. black-belted instructor, over her shoulder.

Credit for starting the club goes to Rev. J. Kabayama, minister of the Japanese United Church in Kelowna, and Kaz Iwasaki, Mr. Kabayama is perhaps the ultimate truth of the statement that through judo, one may perfect one's self and contribute thereby to the welfare of mankind. He is, incidentally, what is known as a second degree black belt—a degree but few attain.

You can't go ALL-OUT

If you feel ALL-IN

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living lowers resistance, suppresses energy—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "fired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. Dodd's stimulates the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter.

Kelowna senior citizens association sets objective of membership at two hundred

At the regular monthly meeting of the Senior Citizens Association held last Thursday, objectives and purpose of the organization were discussed under the leadership of W. H. Derry.

Mr. Derry explained that objects are to further the interests and promote the happiness and welfare of senior citizens in every possible way, and to improve living conditions for those who depend on their old-age pensions. The association is incorporated under provincial charter and is tied in with similar organizations in other provinces.

It was decided that the Kelowna branch should have an objective of at least 200 members by next fall, judging by present steady growth, this is well within the range of probability.

Reports of progress in other branches showed Vancouver to have received a number of concessions from local business and professional organizations. Vancouver headquarters have arranged with a qualified dentist to supply dentures, re-lines, and repairs to bona-fide needy members of the association at much less than usual prices. Arrangements have also been made with Vancouver funeral directors to provide complete services, including hearse, cars, organist, lot, and embalming or cremation at greatly reduced prices to old-age pensioners.

Kamloops Senior Citizens Housing Society will begin construction of low rental housing about June 1 on property donated by provincial government. Drive is now under way to raise $10,000.00 as the society's share. Balance will be met by the provincial government and the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Quiet wedding for local couple

Doreen Graves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Graves, and Douglas Haworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Haworth, were married quietly in St. Mary's Anglican Church, Oyma, the Rev. Robert W. S. Brown officiating. Only the families of the couple were present.

The bride was dressed in a beige and brown suit offset by a rose-colored blouse with matching hat and gloves. Her only attendant, Mrs. Diane Carey, wore a gunmetal blue suit with blue accessories. Attending the groom was his brother, Murray Haworth.

The wedding party returned to the Graves' home where a luncheon was served and the wedding cake was cut. For the occasion, the bride's mother wore a rose suit with white carnations, and the groom's mother donned a grey wool suit with a corsage of red carnations.

Following their honeymoon in the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Haworth will reside in Kelowna where Mr. Haworth is in the jewelry business with his father.

New community club holds first meeting

SOUTH KELOWNA—The first regular monthly meeting of the newly-formed South Kelowna Community Club was held in the hall on Thursday last, with president Louis Francis in the chair, and attended by fourteen people.

The laying of the new floor in the hall was discussed, but the main interest centred on the rental, modification of the community hall which at present is under the charge of the P.T.A. The meeting felt that a joint committee from the two organizations could best further its development. An executive meeting to arrange this will be held shortly.

After some lengthy consideration membership fees were set at $1.00 per person. Mrs. O. Seddon, Walter Dyck, Bill Beasley and Nigel Taylor form the executive. The next regular monthly meeting will be held on Thursday, April 7.

Norman Hardy has returned from his visit to the United States.

Kelowna Figure Skating Club will present
outstanding ice frolic at arena Saturday

Diane Stolz who recently won the Western Canadian Novice Ladies' Figure Skating Championship in Trail will be among the local skaters featured in the sixth annual ice frolic to be staged by the Kelowna Figure Skating Club this Saturday at 2:30 p.m. and 8:00 p.m.

Others who entered the western championships at Trail and who will be featured in this year's show are Joan Delcourt, Louisa Orwell, Monica Hill, Tony Griffin, John Franks, and Tasuko Oishi and Rose Bilyk, the latter two of Vernon Figure Skating Club.

Charming Hans Christian Andersen's "The Snow Queen" will be the first time it has been presented on the Kelowna ice. The show will be a special attraction. The sixteen older skaters dancing to Markewich as Papa Bear, Diana Copenhagen as Linda Bazzett, Rosalind Burnell, Diane Carter, Barbra Doell, Ruth Dodd, Vivian Dore, Jill Downton, Gail De Graaf, Janet Emerson, Frances Gibson, Beverly Hill, Elizabeth Flower, Evelyn Mat-
rick, Karen McKeown, Tish Robinson, and Leigh Wilson.

The eight younger skaters performing to the rhythm of Thumbelina are Gail Gwillim, Elizabeth
Lowe, Kathleen Marty, Susan Moir, Linda Moir, Lorraine Smith, Darlene Shinnon, Cindy Taylor.

Girls 13 to 15 years of age, will present their interpretation of Kittens on Blades. Taking part are Judy Burnell, Elsie Busch, Diana Delcourt, Sharon Moir, Louisa Orwell, Diane Stolz, Sharon Turk and Sheila Vetter, and featuring John Franks in "the waiting cat."

Kelowna quartet, Monica Hill, Sandra Lipsett, John Franks, and Tony Griffin will offer a fast skating modern jazz routine.

Members from Vernon and Kelowna Figure Skating Clubs will team up to present an Indian Fantasy. Costumes for this colorful number will be supplied by Oliver
Jackson, of Kelowna. Tasuko Oishi is to be the Indian Princess, while Miyoka Chiba, Lawrie Johnston,
Monica Hill, and Sandra Lipsett will be featured as the Indian Maidens. Indian braves will be Tony Griffin, John Franks, and Michael Stauffer. This should be a spectacular number since the girls will be skating with flaming torches.

Veteran skaters, Nicky and Helen Van der Vliet, runners-up at the recent western championships held at Trail, will present Ice Dance Interpretations.

CHORUS OF TEENAGERS from Vernon
Club will present two chorus numbers, one entitled "The Sandpaper
Ballet," and will feature Lois Briard,
Lawrie Johnston, Lynne Bowes,
Carol Small, Miyoka Chiba, Sylvia
Thorburn, Wendy Phillips, Tasuko
Oishi, Diane Gendron and Sandra Hobbs.

The special children's number this year will be Goldilocks and the Three Bears. This will be the son folk dance style routines performed by the 5-12 year olds promising to be a special attraction. The show will be a special attraction. The show will be a special attraction.

Bluebirds: Sherry Olson, Susan
Aynesley, Mary Moore, Linda Buch-oltz, Frances Hubic, Marilyn Harris, and Marilyn Wignall.

Butterflies: Glory Favell, Bernice
Vetter, Lynn Appleton, Lynn
Blackie, Vicki Wilson, Jennifer
Poole, Karen Bruce.

Wild Flowers: Ruth Stephens,
Maura Mitchell, Linda Wildeman,
Beverly Ann McConnell, Joan
Burnett, Barbara Mathie, Evelyn Worstulick and Wilma Dearing.

GROUP SELECTION
One of the more colorful numbers in the show is the group selection presented by twenty-four intermediate skaters dressed in Eastern costume. "In a Persian Market" features Tony Griffin as the Sultan and Louisa Orwell as the sultan's favorite. Others in the chorus are Sharon Turk, Elsie Busch, Judy
Burnell, Sheila Vetter, Dale Reid,
Sharon Moir, Sandra Lipsett, Diana Delcourt, Diane Stolz, Karen Butcher, Robin Webb, Sharon Patri-quin, Sharon Bunce, Mary Ann
Marty, Barbara Goodman, Margaret
Taylor, Margaret Reid, and Connie Markewich.

Final number on the program is a precision number by twelve snappy teen-agers skating in sparkling uniform. Taking part are Sharon Turk,
Elsie Busch, Judy Parnell, Sheila
Vetter, Dale Reid, Sharon Moir,
Sandra Lipsett, Louisa Orwell,
Diana Delcourt, Diane Stolz, Monica
Hill and Connie Markewich.

Featured in ice frolic

Diane Stolz who won the Western Canadian Novice Ladies' Figure Skating Championship at Trail last month, will be featured in the sixth annual ice frolic to be presented at the Kelowna and District Memorial Arena Saturday. Scores of other skaters will be taking part in the two performances, one at 2:30 p.m. and the other at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Maisonville
Rutland school teacher passes

Mrs. Georgina Logie Maisonville
passed away at her home, 1489 St.
Paul St., last Tuesday.
Mrs. Maisonville had lived in the Okanagan Valley for many years.
She was a member of the executive of the Okanagan Historical Society, and contributed many articles to the historical magazine. She was librarian and teacher in the Rutland high school for the past ten years.
Her duties also included that of girls' councillor.

Mrs. Maisonville is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Henry Homer, of Minstrel Island, B.C.; one son,
Robert C. Robinson, Pittsburg,
Pennsylvania; two grandchildren;
one brother, G. E. Logie; and one sister, Mrs. Hector C. Whitaker, both of Sumnerland.

Funeral services will be conducted at Day's Funeral Chapel on Saturday afternoon at 2:00 p.m., the Rev. J. A. Pettie officiating. Pallbearers will be D. H. Campbell, G.
C. Bissell, B. Woodworth, D. Whit-tam, L. Kerry, T. F. McWilliams.
Interment will follow in Peach
Orchard cemetery, Sumnerland.

Charles Frankie
passes away

Charles Frankie passed away at his home in the Rutland district yesterday.

Born in Germany 75 years ago, he came to Canada in 1906 and resided at Wilkie, Saskatchewan, where he farmed for 40 years. In 1946 he retired and settled in the Rutland area.

Mr. Frankie leaves to mourn his passing, his wife, Frances, 11 children—five sons and six daughters.
Two sons reside in Saskatchewan, and one daughter in Alberta; the rest of the family is at home in Kelowna. Surviving him, too, are 33 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren and a sister in the United States.

Rosary service for the late
Charles Frankie will be held on Sunday evening at 8:15 p.m. at Day's Funeral Chapel. Funeral service will follow on Monday morning at 10:00 a.m. in St. Theresa's
Church, Rutland, the Rev. Father
McCarthy officiating. Interment will follow in Kelowna cemetery.

Braniff elects
trial by jury

James Braniff, Kelowna postal employee, elected trial by jury
when he appeared in county court
before His Honor Judge J. Ross Archibald.

Braniff is charged with wounding
Alex Ogden, federal government auditor, during a fight at the former's home early in February.
Spring assizes are due to open in Vernon March 22. It is not known whether Braniff will appear at that time. He has been released on bail.

Kiwanians will aid
Sunnyvale centre

The local Kiwanians are taking a special interest in the work of the Sunnyvale Centre and have voted $400.00 toward its cause.

Interesting, too, are two of the recent speakers at the club. Alex (Sandy) Rennie, Okanagan Mission, gave an intriguing account of his service with the British Special Force in the Balkans in the 1942-44
period. Mr. Rennie also saw service with the underground as a radio man in Malaya and Burma. The other speaker, Dr. A. E. Chatwin of the Canadian National office of the United Nations, gave an address on "Some Little Known Activities of the U.N.O."

Kiwanians meet every Friday noon at Royal Anne Hotel.

So many gifts that
we possess
When given out leave
none the less
Our blessings come
when we've begun,
To aid or comfort
any one
Our cup of blessings
overflow
From kindly acts that
we bestow;
So best of what we
all possess,
When given out, leave
none the less.

EDMONTON—Alberta agriculture minister Halmarst says the province has 84,315 farmers and 1,200,000 head of cattle.

Ogopogo bonspiel March 21-24

Twelve curling rinks from Vancouver have so far entered the seventh annual Ogopogo Bonspiel slated for the Kelowna Curling Club March 21-24.

Bonspiel chairman Carl Stevenson said entries will be limited to 46 rinks. Normally there are about 20 outside teams, with the balance being made up of interior contestants.

It was suggested that local curlers planning on entering the spiel should submit their entries immediately. Outstanding prizes will go to winners in various events.

Juvenile Packers take on Trail All-Stars tonight in first game of finals

Kelowna Juvenile Packers will clash with Trail All-Stars in the first game of the best of three finals for the B.C. Juvenile Hockey Championship tonight.

Packers won the right to enter the finals after defeating Kamloops in two straight games. Trail defeated Victoria at the former's home ice Tuesday night after the first game was tied.

The second game will also be played in Kelowna on Friday night. However, if the series goes to the third game, the third contest will probably take place Sunday afternoon, as the arena is booked Saturday for the ice trolleys sponsored by the Kelowna Figure Skating Club.

The local club is confident that it will take the Trail team two straight. While at time of writing one or two players were suffering from the mild effects of the coach Jack O'Reilly hopes to ice a full team. Only player missing will be Sam McGladdery who suffered a fractured wrist in the first game of the semi.

When the cards were finished, the Scouts did a "good job" serving refreshments. Later in the evening merchandise, which had been donated, was auctioned by E. O. Midgley and J. Bauer; consolation, F. D. Price.

Mrs. J. Bauer was the winner of the auto rug. Proceeds will go to the local Scout fund.

East Kelowna city taxes up over '54

Taxes paid in January and February are $27,116.94 more than they were in the same period last year, reflecting, as the Mayor stated last week, the prosperity of the citizens.

In the first two months of 1954 prepaid taxes had amounted to $72,927.07 while in 1955 they were $100,044.01.

Trading licences in the two months totalled 462 against 445 of last year and the fees paid were $10,685 against $10,194.50 last year.

Forty-one professional licences this year had brought in $820 while 34 in the same period last year netted $680.

AAA will seek financial assistance from government so driving training classes may be re-instituted in high schools

B.C. Automobile Association plans to recommend to the government that driving classes be re-instituted in high schools, Harry Duker, immediate past president of the association, stated this week. Accompanied by J. H. H. Roche, field supervisor, the men showed several travel films to the public in the Legion Hall.

Mr. Duker said high school principals are in favor of the driving classes becoming part of school curriculum. Up to three years ago, the government ear-marked $10,000 annually for the classes.

The AAA official said that when a youth passes the driving training course, he is entitled to standard rate of insurance, instead of being placed in the "preferred risk" class.

During his visit to Kelowna Mr. Duker addressed school students, and emphasized the necessity of crossing streets in pedestrian zones and riding bicycles carefully. He also conferred with members of the Kiwanis club who sponsor school boy patrols.

City holds up two licences pending changes

Licences for the operation of the Jubilee and Avalon apartments have been held up pending the removal of certain fire hazards. On Monday council received application from the Manhattan Properties which have taken over the two buildings on Bernard at Richter. The Jubilee has 34 rooms while the Avalon has 14.

The building and health inspectors gave the Avalon a clean bill, but in the case of the Jubilee found several conditions which needed correction.

Council decided to write the applicants and advise them that a licence would be granted if the specified conditions are corrected within two weeks.

The conditions include: a wooden fire-escape in poor condition, be replaced; the chimney area cleaned and the furnace room cleaned; waste paper in the roof area be removed.

Mr. Kabayana enjoys working out with men less than half his age. Whether some of the "youngsters" enjoy it as much as he does is a laughably moot point. Another well-known figure at the club is instructor S. Nishitani, also a second degree black belt.

Top man in Canada, however, is S. Sasaki of Ashcroft, president of the B.C. and Canadian Black Belt Association, who is a six degree black belt, the highest man in the Dominion.

The two terms—Judo and Jujitsu—confuse most people. "Judo," said Eddie, "is a refined form of the older Jujitsu. The more dangerous techniques are eliminated and the emphasis is placed on sport."

Jujitsu was practiced mainly in the Samurai era and, as a sport, rivalled the brutality of the slave and lion era of the Roman days. The object was to maim, cripple or sometimes kill the adversary through a knowledge of nerve blows, arm locks and choke holds.

"You can see why," Eddie smiled, "Jujitsu in its original form, cannot be practiced by the amateur. On the other hand, black belts (the bottom layer of the Judo cream, as it were) keep alive the old secrets—but in much the same way as the fencing enthusiast—with points guarded.

Judo, after the refining process has been applied, has for its most important factor the preservation of the duellists safety. This is primarily accomplished by learning how to fall correctly.

More About 2 Mr. and Mrs. John Citizen

To forfeit any flavor. To test cut gash near bone.

For roasting, cook at low temperature since higher temperatures toughen meat. Don't use cover but do place on rack in roasting pan. For demonstration purposes, Miss Britton used a sirloin tip roast.

Moist heat methods included boiling, stewing, pot roast method. Pot roast should be well browned on all sides after salt and pepper have been rubbed into meat. Only about ¾ cup of water need be added for cooking since juices come out of meat. Preferable to use heavy kettle like dutch oven and allow about 40 min. per lb. for cooking time.

Stewing requires larger amount of water. Meat should be well browned before adding water. Add vegetables cut small (variety of vegetables used) and added toward the end of the meat cooking time. Stew can be covered with baking powder biscuit crust to make meat pie.

Hamburger or ground meat of any kind should be used as soon as possible. For frying use coarsely ground meat, brown well but don't flatten; handle as little as possible in order to insure juicy patties. For meat loaf use finer grind. She also suggested having butcher add 2 oz. suet to 1 lb. round steak when buyer is having meat specially ground.

Miss Britton emphasized the importance of correct storage of meat and emphasized the importance of keeping frozen meats frozen until they are to be used. After once being thawed, they should never be refrozen. Meat should be unwrapped and put in coldest part of refrigerator. Cellophane should always be removed in order to ensure air circulation.

SEASONING IMPORTANT
Seasonings are meant to enhance flavor of meat but should not overpower it. Garlic, paprika, salt, pepper, bay leaf, and thyme are all choice seasonings for meat. Meat dishes should be sampled toward end of cooking and preparation period and more seasoning added if desired.

Garnishing the roast or stew with a salad or cooked vegetables adds to appearance and also makes variety in menu.

Miss Britton demonstrated the final preparation of sirloin tip roast, short ribs of beef stewed, pot roast, and a special recipe—beef stroganoff.

Following the demonstration, Mrs. L. V. Lillico, provincial chairman of Canadian Association of Consumers addressed the assembly briefly.

Says story good analysis of city's financial position

Mayor J. J. Ladd on Monday night complimented the Courier on its report on the city financial statement and its analysis of the city's financial position. "Decidedly complimentary," Mr. Ladd said.

However, he did add that as Mayor he could not quite go along with the paper's editorial suggestion that perhaps the profit from the light system is getting a little high and some reduction might be in order. His Worship said that the money made on the light system that just that much need not be raised by taxes. "It's taking it out of one pocket and putting it into another. It doesn't matter very much which pocket it comes from."

Alderman Bob Knox commented that the light profit was in effect a tax where there was ability to pay, the big users paid the most.

Alderman Art Jackson, chairman of the electrical department, said that the figure used by The Courier, $175,000, was the amount of the "operating surplus" of the electrical department as quoted in the city's statement and as such was correct. He felt a more accurate picture of profits could be obtained by taking into consideration $17,000 in depreciation which had not been included in the department's operating statement. If this figure were considered, the department's profit was down to $98,000.

Health director explains polio immunization plan

At the regular monthly meeting of the Kelowna Elementary School P-TA held last week in the Junior High School auditorium, Dr. D. A. Clarke, director of the South Okanagan Health Unit, explained in detail the extensive immunization program to protect young children, beginning with five and six year olds from poliomyelitis.

Speaking on the Salk vaccine, Dr. Clarke told how Dr. Jones E. Salk, research professor at the University of Pittsburgh, had just recently developed this triple vaccine following extensive research with three common strains of the poliomyelitis virus.

Administration of the vaccine in the Okanagan will begin the week of April 17 with a second injection following one week later and the third injection four weeks later. Approximately 2,000 children in the Okanagan and Similkameen area will be eligible for the Salk Vaccine.

Dr. Clarke was thanked by Mrs. Harrison Smith for his interesting and informative talk. Mrs. Marshall, public health nurse, emphasized her talk with a film entitled "So Much for So Little" which further depicted the work of the public health nurse in the community. Mrs. Ray expressed her appreciation and that of the audience to Mrs. Marshall.

Council had some discussion about the adoption of the national building code for application in Kelowna. The building inspector had suggested that a committee be formed to consider the matter but council returned his recommendation and asked for specific recommendations.

Princess Margaret's tour

Princess Margaret has ended the month-long tour she has been making of the supremely beautiful but isolated islands and settlements in the West Indies. The trip was a lighthearted one without too many official duties, and there is ample evidence that the Queen's younger sister brought to the tour her own distinctive contribution. Some formality no doubt was inescapable, but good sense on the part of those concerned held it at a minimum. The result was that Princess Margaret probably enjoyed her trip and received as much pleasure from it as she unquestionably gave.

The current tour set another Commonwealth precedent. It was an extension of the gracious widening by the Royal Household of the circle of its social influence and acquaintanceship through the whole structure. The public has liked that. Within Commonwealth circles there has been ready recognition of the personal sacrifice this broader policy may at times entail for members of the Royal Family and their closest kin. There has, however, also been satisfaction that the Commonwealth throughout is thereby being bound closer by these personal ties to the heart of the structure and to the Throne itself.

Probably in all history the representatives of no other monarchy have been free to travel in this easy fashion and to be received everywhere with loyalty, confidence and affection. If that is the outcome of the examples given by the unselfish service of King George V and King George VI, it is certainly being extended and carried forward by Her Majesty and the Duke of Edinburgh both directly and through such approved visits as that of Princess Margaret to the West Indies.

Another result emerges from the tour just completed. Princess Margaret bore herself with grace and dignity in the glare of the public spotlight, and under circumstances not always easy to surmount. As the voyage ends, she leaves behind her everywhere the evidence of a winsome personality—observant, balanced and kindly—in her own right.

Hobson's choice

By GORDON HOBSON

On a recent radio broadcast, a man of the cloth said that the most pitiful thing on earth is jealousy. He expounded this viewpoint at great length.

Can't help thinking that the minister has never seen, or has forgotten, the sight of a month-old child deserted by its parents—either in war or peace; perhaps too, he has forgotten the disease and starvation which runs rampant over more than two-thirds of our world this very day; perhaps he has forgotten the thousands of young men and women of this generation who regard classical literature, art or music with contempt. Perhaps he has forgotten the war dead—and why they were killed.

The most pitiful thing on earth, sir, I would suggest, far from being jealousy is IGNORANCE.

A day, apparently, is what one makes it. An airlines tour was advertised cheap for two people for six BIG days. The chap who wrote that had not read his competitor's slogan pertaining to Halifax being but a few, SHORT hours away.

It would be interesting to know how many short hours there are in a big day.

Then we find a radio announcer telling us that the time, courtesy of P. Phippenham, is 8.00 a.m. What a day that'll be when Phippenham wakes up and feels plain discourteous. Who does he think he is, anyway?

To a private showing of a home-made film I was invited. For thirty minutes, some of B.C.'s most magnificent scenery, beautifully photographed, titillated the imagination. Unfortunately, with the possible exception of five minutes the narrator could find little to talk about other than the wonderful opportunities there were to shoot, shoot, kill, kill, shoot... particularly bears and mountain goats. Even little bears. Out of necessity? No. For food? No. To hang over the mantelpiece? Yes. Even had airplanes to locate the prey. Just one step removed from fitting machine guns. Sport? Hmm.

Apologies of women and chivalry. A lady, question mark, writes and suggests that since chivalry is dead (you men are all slob) why not give it a decent burial. Yes, indeed. All its hypocritical practice does is qualify us men for a round cell in Folsom.

Why hypocritical? What man gets genuine pleasure out of doffing his hat when a blizzard is raging around his ears? What is a man thinking when he stands up like a naughty child every time a woman enters the room? Be honest. What is achieved by disrupting sidewalk traffic, knocking over grandmas, trampling on children... just for the privilege of being on the outside of the lady? Why do we suppose that car manufacturers place "ear doors" on her side, too? Who holds her coat for her when she is at a hen party? Does she come home with a broken back through the effort of doing it herself? Time methinks, us "slobs" smartened up a bit. The ladies want us to, so what, prey, is holding us back?

"The views expressed by... a staff reporter of the... are based on off-the-record discussions he had with..." That was taken verbatim from one of Canada's leading newspapers.

It should prove conclusively that nothing—repeat nothing—is off the record in the press is concerned. How could it be otherwise? When the press is invited to report on a function or conduct a personal interview, the inviter seeks but one thing—publicity. He should know beforehand what he doesn't want to say and thus obviate use of the hackneyed, pseudo-confidential phrase—"now off the record, old man". It's as bad as offering a man dying of thirst a drink of water and then snatching it away from him. You show him that you have it but deny him the privilege of drinking.

Saw a banker the other day sans hat, stiff collar, furrowed brow, tight lip and funeral dark suit. Know something? He didn't look any different to anyone else after all.

It's common for merchants to say, "gee, I'm fresh out of the..." What, believe me, they say that they're still "out of that" but not so fresh?

Letters to the editor

PEACHLAND CENOTAPH
The Editor,
The Kelowna Courier.

Dear Sir—I wonder if you would kindly find room for a few words of gratitude to Mr. Jack Wilson who so nobly extended our Cenotaph in the little village of Peachland.

I say "Well, done, Jack! We are proud of you, my father and all the other old-timers, long, gone would be proud of you, too. Thanks a million."

A PEACHLANDER AT HEART.

Flag presented to troop

N. E. Suddaby, of Glenmore, wanted to pay tribute to Rev. G. A. Stegen for taking the lead in the formation of St. Michael's 4th Scout Troop, and he found no better way of expressing his thanks than by presenting a flag to the troop.

Mr. Stegen, who is shortly leaving the parish, accepted the flag, and in turn presented it to Scoutmaster George Cmolik.

"The flag," said Mr. Suddaby, "will serve the purpose of reminding the lads of the man who made their troop a reality."

Mr. Stegen is shown on the left of the accompanying picture; Mr. Suddaby; Wolf Cub Michael Taylor; Scoutmaster Cmolik, and Scout Roy Warman.

Basil Jennens elected head of Westbank Board of Trade

WESTBANK—Basil Jennens was elected president of the Westbank Board of Trade at the annual meeting Monday night, succeeding W. N. Formby who declined to seek re-election. Vice-president is C. F. Waterman; secretary-treasurer W. MacLean, while directors are C. R. Cameron, M. M. Black, O. Jonsson, John Seltenrich, Dudley Pritchard, R. Huva, H. Stafford, Earl Wilson and John Schneider.

In his review of activities of the board, Mr. Formby, president, stressed as the main accomplishment the securing of the lakeshore property now referred to as the Aquatic Park and, in particular, the substantial improvements made there during the summer.

The board had carried out development work on this site costing $614, and this figure did not include the value of services contributed so generously by business firms of the Valley.

In thanking the board for the support he had received during his term of office as president, Mr. Formby bespoke for the incoming executive all the assistance the members could give. A great deal of work, he said, which elsewhere devolved upon municipal councils was in unorganized rural areas cast upon the shoulders of the local board of trade. The measure of success any board could achieve in the handling of such matters would be in proportion not only to the number of paid-up members, but also to the interest they personally displayed in their board's activities.

W. H. Moffat, chairman of the reserve lands committee, gave an instructive and comprehensive review of the matter of the Indian reserve cut-off lands, which has been the subject of correspondence between the board's secretaries and the department of lands for some time.

Speaking for the committee, he said that they were unable to make any recommendations other than those in their report of last fall, already submitted to the government. The subject, however, was open for discussion, and the meeting might wish to recommend some departure from the findings of the committee. The meeting decided that the matter be left in the hands of the committee.

John Seltenrich, chairman of the power and light committee, in the course of his report explained the difference between the "demand" and the "block" systems of charging for power, the main principles on which the B.C. Power Commission determined its costs, and gave some figures to illustrate the differing charges made at different places in the province for the same amount of power.

The treasurer lamented the fact that Mr. Formby and Mr. Pritchard, whose genius in the organizing of entertainments had

Last week's sudden cold snap may benefit fruit growers from the insect point of view.

John A. Smith, provincial horticulturist, pointed out a sudden drop of temperature at this time of the year reduces the chances of mildew infection and kills insect eggs and crawling moths.

A mild winter is generally followed by a bad pest year, he said. Mr. Smith did not think the 55-year record low of eight below Friday morning would do any appreciable damage to tree fruits.

"We'll know in a couple of days when we cut open buds of soft fruit," he said. "However the damage will not be of any great economic importance."

Saturday morning the temperature dropped to a minimum of five below.

The rudder and stock of the 23,500-ton Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Britain, will weigh 44 tons.

Urges careful study of water contracts

LETHBRIDGE, Alta.—Dr. Andrew Stewart, president of the University of Alberta, told agriculturists here recently that contracts with water users are the controlling factor in the continuation of irrigation projects.

Normally when there is investment in a new project, returns from the project could be expected to cover its cost, plus the prevailing interest rate, Dr. Stewart said. "This is not the case for irrigation," he continued. "We should know what the total cost will be, what we will recover from users and the amount of the subsidy required."

Contracts with water users on payment for irrigation services should be set at a figure which will ensure continuation of the project. If the contract rate is too low, the right acquired will develop value. Land prices will climb and the farmer will be able to dispose of his property at a profit, he said. On the other hand, if the rate is too high the farmer's operation may be uneconomical and adjustments and changes would have to be made.

The size of farm units in irrigated areas depends on factors such as soil fertility. The tendency is to have the units too small, he said. He suggested a reason for this might be that too much emphasis has been placed on output per acre. Dr. Stewart said emphasis should be placed not on what should be grown, but on what can reasonably be expected to be done.

He added that only if production increased to meet an increased demand could the farmers obtain a reasonable return and thus maintain a satisfactory contract.

Queer antics

I see by the paper that there are some queer shenanigans down in Toronto.

It appears that the O'Keefe Brewing Company offered to erect a $12,000,000 civic centre building if the city would provide the land.

One would think the people of Toronto would jump at an offer like that. And they did—all but a few of them. "Them" were the prohibitionist group. And their conduct became ludicrous.

No money made out of demon beer was going to go into any civic centre in Toronto!

A group interested in blocking the gift asked for a conference with O'Keefe officials to discuss the proposal. Then, after having been granted the appointment, they cancelled it, because they wouldn't meet to discuss the situation in the office of the brewing company.

And a resolution was passed declaring that "it would be undesirable to perpetuate the name of a presently active brewing industry in a cultural centre inasmuch as to do so would be to support a means of undesirable advertising."

McGill University in Montreal didn't exactly turn up its nose at Molson Stadium and there has been no noticeable decline at that institution, either academic or moral, as a result of the gift which bears a name famous in the brewing industry. And Labatt Park, in London, Ont., is another example of a private benefice that benefitted the public although associated with the name of another famous family of brewers. And isn't there a Slick Capilano stadium in Vancouver? We've never heard of it being a detriment to the morals of that city.

The fact is that the Toronto prohibitionists were trying to protect a public that had put up no clamor for assistance.

I'll wager that the majority of people in Toronto are quite willing to accept a gift of $12,000,000 from a perfectly legitimate firm that has been doing business in Toronto for more than a hundred years. The majority doesn't require to be rescued or led around by the hand by any group of self-appointed custodians.

Charley-horse

M.B. writes to ask: "can anyone tell me why we call a sprained muscle a 'charley-horse'?"

According to the American Dictionary of Slang the expression was applied about 1869 in the United States to a muscular strain or cramp. It is said to come from a lame horse named Charley at the Chattanooga, Tenn., baseball park. Note the spelling of "charley."

PIT AND THE PENDULUM

"Don't Anyone Ever Breathe While He's Sleeping."

Mixed freight

By G. E. MORTIMORE

One day a girl bank teller will dump the contents of the small-change drawer on a client's head, and practice through the lobby scattering banknotes like roses at a blossom festival.

Don't be shocked. It will only mean that the poor girl's mind, worn away by exasperations, has snapped at last.

That bank customer ahead of you may seem like an ordinary citizen. But you only see the back of his neck. Through the teller's cage he appears as a monster whose aim in life is to drive bank employees mad.

A girl I know, who works in a bank, had passed me her catalogue of monsters. They nearly spoiled my appetite for lunch. I hope they do not have the same effect on you.

1. The Handkerchief Expert. This is the man who folds his clothes into paper airplanes, model sailing ships or miniature Boy Scout tents. The teller dismantles the thing (which seems a pity, after so much work has gone into it) and finds a deposit of $3.79.

2. The Dragon, who approaches the cage breathing smoke from a two-and-a-half-cent cigar.

3. The Whistler, who stands in front of the cage shrilling a little tune of his own composition. It has only one note, and a sour one into the bargain.

4. The Curio Collector. This individual uses his pass-book as a catalogue for snatched-up curios, shopping lists and small coins which shower down when the teller opens the book.

5. The Mental Telepathy Boy. He throws down a bundle of cheques, and gives a bland stare. "Did you wish to deposit these?" the teller asks. "Deposit, of course," he snaps, in a scornful voice.

When the teller has listed and totalled the cheques, he says "Oh, I want $30 in cash too"—in a tone that plainly indicates that a person of normal wits would know about the $30 without being told.

6. Last-Minute Gertie. She stands in a lineup for 20 minutes. When she reaches the teller's cage—not a moment before—she explodes into action, rummaging through her handbag and sending up a fountain of cosmetics, bills and buttons. Then she decides she left her pass-book at home.

7. Breathless Bert, who runs into the bank and thrusts forward a bird's-nest of jumbled twigs, fives and tens. "I guess I should have put them in order," he says. The teller, sorting them out, says nothing—which shows that she is a girl of iron self-control.

8. The Secret Operative. This customer wants to withdraw $5, but she is afraid she may be observed by one of the spies which Mrs. Smurde next door hires to pry into her business. So this client gives instructions in a whisper. The teller has to climb half-way through the cage before she can hear what the client is saying.

Financial support from ice show aids local figure skating club

"This is going to be by far the biggest and best show ever put on by the Kelowna Figure Skating club. Numbers are more colorful, skaters are improving from year to year, and the music is snappier."

That's how Margaret Mitchell sums up her impression of the Ice Frolics to be presented in the Memorial Arena this Saturday afternoon and evening.

Kelowna figure skating club depends on financial support of the show, she states.

A great deal of effort has gone into its production both on the part of Margaret Mitchell and her skaters, and the mothers of the club in preparing costumes for the show. The members, and especially the little children, get a thrill out of taking part in the display, and it would be unfortunate if this opportunity should be denied them another year.

Figure skating club fees in Kelowna are the lowest in all North America and in the larger cities membership is very limited because of the higher fees. By attending the ice frolics this Saturday, Miss Mitchell pointed out, citizens of Kelowna can ensure for their kids this very select sport which requires a great deal of effort and practice.

"This year's show is coming close to professional calibre and some of the solo numbers are very outstanding," Margaret Mitchell added. "So much depends on the outcome of this performance."

Miss Mitchell is interested in her pupils and in the few years she has been in Kelowna, has worked wonders with them.

New stamps will mark national wildlife week

Two new designs of postage stamps will be available in post offices throughout Canada on April 10. A 5c blue stamp will illustrate two whooping cranes in flight and a 4c purple stamp will illustrate the head of a Musk-ox.

These two new designs of postage stamps are issued to call attention to Canada's National Wildlife Week, April 10 to 18. By issuing these stamps the post office department emphasizes the importance of securing and restoring the wildlife resources of Canada, not only for their considerable economic value but also because they are a constant source of pleasure to thousands in every walk of life.

The 5c whooping crane stamp will be horizontal and will measure approximately 1 1/4" x 1". This stamp was designed by Dr. William Rowan F.R.S.C., a professor of Zoology, University of Alberta. The 4c musk-ox stamp will be vertical, small size, measuring approximately 1 1/4" x 7/8". This latter stamp was designed by Emanuel Hahn, R.C.A., a sculptor of Toronto. These two stamps are of the commemorative type and will not be re-ordered when the original supply is exhausted. The stamps are being engraved and printed by the Canadian Bank Note Company, Limited, Ottawa. The large size whooping crane stamps will be issued to postmasters in panes of 50 stamps each, and the small size musk-ox stamps in panes of 100 stamps each. These stamps will not be overprinted with the letter "G" for use by government departments.

FIRST DAY COVERS

All patrons who desire to have first day covers prepaid with the new issue of postage stamps specially cancelled on the date of issue, April 10, are required to forward self-addressed covers to the postmaster, Ottawa 2, Ontario, not to the philatelic section, prior to the date of issue. All covers must contain "fillers" and must be sealed or have the flap turned in. To avoid errors the patron should mark on the cover, upper right hand corner, the quantity and denomination of stamps to be affixed to each cover. Do not fold covers when forwarding through the mails. Enclose all covers in an outside cover marked "First Day of Issue". All covers will be returned by ordinary mail unless it is specifically requested that they be returned by registered mail. Orders for first day cover service must not include orders for mint or unused stamps. Remarks or enquiries not related directly to the order for first day covers should be written on a separate piece of paper.

In addition to the cost of postage required to be affixed to covers at ordinary air mail or registered mail rates, collectors must include in their remittance sufficient money to pay the department's cover service fee amounting to 5c for each cover forwarded for service. The necessary space should be allowed on first day covers for blocks of stamps to be ordered. The Postmaster, Ottawa, cannot guarantee to supply plate corner blocks of four stamps which will be distributed as equitably as the supply permits. The philatelic section will not handle first day covers.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the community hall are very busy rehearsing the two one-act plays which are to be staged in the hall April 1 and 2, under the direction of Miss Duke, Teen-town, under the guidance of Mrs. Glenn Coe, is co-operating with a square dancing display and campfire singing.

The nine-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Berard, was christened last week in St. Andrew's Church, Okanagan Mission, receiving the names Pamela Eve.

Boyd Drive-In Theatre opens this Friday with "The Naked Spur" heading films

Boyd's Drive-In Theatre opens for another season this week-end and to head the long list of top notch pictures manager Bill Boyd will be bringing to Kelowna is "The Naked Spur" starring James Stewart and Janet Leigh.

Not in some time has Hollywood released a motion picture crammed with suspense, action and gripping characterizations as that offered in MGR's unusual drama, "The Naked Spur".

It will be presented on Friday and Saturday. Aside from a group of Indians who appear in a tense sequence in which the enraged Blackfeet attack the story's chief protagonists, the "Naked Spur" has only five characters, enacted by James Stewart, Janet Leigh, Robert Ryan, Ralph Meeker and Millard Mitchell.

TRAIL KILLER
Stewart is seen as Howard Kemp, a man who trails a killer, Ben Van Degent, (Robert Ryan), across the country from Kansas to a mountainous region in the West in the hope of collecting the $15,000 reward for the fugitive—dead or alive. Janet Leigh is Lina Patch, the homeless young girl who has taken up with Ben. Ralph Meeker is Roy Anderson, dishonorably discharged from the U.S. Cavalry and ready for any adventure that will bring him gain. And Millard Mitchell is the old prospector, Jesse Tate, whose share of the reward money looked big until he learned too late what it cost him.

When Kemp, with the aid of Anderson and Tate captures the fugitive Ben, these five people start a perilous trek back East, a trip fraught with both emotional and physical conflicts, with the three captors motivated by greed and with the outlaw playing on their weaknesses with evil cunning, even to using the girl as a weapon. The double-cross of the gold-hungry prospector, and in the spine-tugging climax in which Anderson attempts to pull the bullet-ridden body of the outlaw out of a swirling rapids and is himself washed away.

Frank Pitt will play the role of art dealer Two local women in KLT's play "Late Christopher Bean" attend civil defence course House-lights will dim, curtains will part, at 8.15 next Tuesday and Wednesday, at the Empress theatre on "The Late Christopher Bean", a comedy in three acts, to be presented by the Kelowna Little Theatre. Directed by Alice Winsby, this Sidney Howard play is full of clever situations and surprising twists of plot.

FRANK PITT

Playing the part of the villain in the piece is Doug Pinfield, who takes the role of Tallant, a forger of paintings who tries to persuade the unsophisticated country doctor to go in with him on his little game. Last season, Mr. Pinfield scored a hit as Humphries, a visiting minister, in the Little Theatre presentation of "See How They Run".

Rosen, an art dealer from New York is being played by Frank Pitt, who is familiar to Kelowna theatre-goers. Mr. Pitt's first appearance with the Kelowna Little Theatre was in "Golden Boy", and last year he took part in "An Wilderness" and "Arsenic and Old Lace". Another interesting role taken by Frank Pitt was in Saroyan's one-act play "The Hungerers", an entry in last season's one-act festival.

Between Tallant and Rosen, and finally the arrival of Davenport, an art critic, the Haggitt household is thrown into a flurry of activity as they seek paintings of the late Christopher Bean in the attic and the chicken coop. "The Late Christopher Bean" promises an evening of fun and reserved seats are now available.

SAUERKRAUT SOUP

- 1 tin sauerkraut
- 2 pork kidneys
- 1 lb. pork liver
- 1/4 lb. pork (side) meat
- 1 onion
- 1 clove garlic
- 3 bay leaves
- 1 tsp. paprika

Cook all ingredients together. Then remove meat and cut into small cubes. Add to sauerkraut mixture.

Now mix 1 cup cold water and 2-3 tbsp. flour into a smooth paste and add to sauerkraut mix. Boil for 5 minutes. Pour in 1/2 cup cream. Simmer 3-4 minutes. Serves 6-8.

CASSEROLE LAYER POTATO AND EGG DISH

Cook 8-10 large potatoes (whole and with skins)

Boil 4 eggs (with the potatoes if desired)

Peel potatoes; clean eggs (then brown 1/2 c. butter and 1 c. dry bread crumbs in a frying pan)

Grease casserole dish. Sprinkle bottom of dish with bread crumbs.

Slice potatoes and put a layer in dish. Sprinkle with salt and 1 tbsp. of browned bread crumbs. Repeat each layer until dish is filled, ending with bread crumbs.

Dot with butter (or margarine). Cover casserole with tin milk or 2 cups of cream. Bake in oven approximately 25 minutes — until nicely browned.

APPLE PUDDING

8-10 large apples, peeled and sliced.

Sprinkle with 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/4 cup raisins, 1/4 cup chopped walnuts, and 1/2 tsp. cinnamon. Then take two cups flour, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/2 cup shortening (or margarine) and 1/2 cup brown sugar. Crumble together with hands.

Grease dish and sprinkle bottom with bread crumbs. Put in a layer of apple; add 1/2 cup of flour mixture. Repeat layers—final layer being flour mixture. Dot with butter or margarine. Bake in oven about 1 hour.

PING PONG TORTE

8 yolks of eggs
8 tbsp. sugar
Cream sugar and yolks; beat well (approximately 15 min.)

Take: 5 tbsp. chopped walnuts
8 tbsp. bread crumbs
Add this to sugar and yolk mixture and beat well.

Next add slowly 8 stiffly beaten egg whites to above mixture. Pour into cake pan and bake in moderate oven (350-375 degrees) until done.

FILLING

12 oz. butter
8 tbsp. white sugar
1/2 lb. chopped walnuts
1/4 cup milk

Cook all together; then cool. Add 1 wineglass of rum to filling. Cut cake and fill; cover with favourite icing or frosting. Garnish with chopped nuts.

Beverley Lewis sets April 9 as wedding date

Announcement is made today of the engagement of Beverley June Lewis to Arthur Frederick Vanidour, son of Mrs. Robert J. Ritchie of Glenmore, and the late Frederick C. Vanidour, a lance-corporal who died in World War II.

The bride-elect, the only daughter of Mrs. "Beatty" Lewis and the late Valentine Dockrill ("Turk") Lewis, is a 1964 graduate of St. Paul's School of Nursing and is now on the staff of Kelowna General Hospital. The wedding will take place April 9 at 4:00 p.m. in First United Church, the Rev. D. M. Perley officiating.

Attending the bride-to-be will be Miss Vivian Vanidour, sister of the groom-elect, as maid of honor; Miss Madeline Sugars, of Vancouver and Kelowna, and Miss Joan Smalley of Vernon, as bridesmaids. In attendance as best man will be Rodney F. Pridham. Ushers chosen are Mr. W. T. J. Bulman and Mr. Alan Elliott.

Marion Karpenko widely feted with showers

OKANAGAN MISSION—A shower was held at the home of Mrs. W. Barber on Wednesday of last week, in honor of Miss Marion Karpenko who is being married to Stanley Lindahl of Kelowna, March 12, in the United Church on the Mission Road.

Mrs. W. Barber and Mrs. A. Stoppa were co-hostesses to approximately twenty friends of Miss Karpenko. Games were played during the evening, prizes being won by Mrs. A. Ivens, Mrs. H. Raby and Mrs. W. H. Boyd. Mrs. Karpenko and Betty Jean helped Marion to open her gifts. Supper followed, Beverley Raymer, Leona Stoppa and Shirley Barber, helping with the serving.

Another shower was also held for Miss Karpenko in the Okanagan Mission school last Friday evening. Mrs. Hawkins was hostess to seventeen who attended. Betty Jean Karpenko and Robert Arrans wheeled in the presents in a baby carriage, after which Mrs. Hawkins served supper.

MONTREAL—We all know too well that housework and laundry are hard on hands... but if you'll just smooth a drop of Campana's ITALIAN BALM on your hands, after every exposure to work—water—weather... you'll be very happy about the softness of your hands! There are 16 ingredients in Italian Balm—all medically proved as effective in keeping your hands soft. There's nothing better for busy hands than this fine product. Wonderful for chapped hands! There's a SPECIAL HAND CARE OFFER now—one household size bottle, plus one travel size—for only 65¢!

Another Drudgery Banished! Believe me—dishwashing becomes almost a pleasure with the new liquid GAY to help you. I've proved it! Gay has extra grease-cutting power—yet is gentle on the hands. Just see what it does to the toughest grease on pots and pans! And it's more economical too—one bottle of Gay does fifty dishwashings! That's more than any two boxes of powder detergent. You'll find you get more in Gay—for the price—than any other liquid detergent, too. It really is the most effective, most economical detergent you can buy. Wonderful, I find, for chandeliers, mirrors and windows. Ask today for liquid Gay!

Every Flake Of Peeling Paint In Your Home, every crack, every bit of repair work neglected, means a loss in the value of one of your most important assets. That's why I always give our home the "once-over" every year. And there's no need to hold up repairs or improvements for lack of ready cash. You can pay for them with an inexpensive BANK OF MONTREAL Home Improvement Loan—interest at only 5 1/2%. If you want to lay new linoleum in the kitchen... paint-up inside or out... or tackle some large project, like adding an extra room or two... erecting a garage or carport... installing a heating or electrical system... see your local B of M manager today. He will be glad to discuss an H.I.L. with you and to explain the easy repayment terms.

Local judo club now member black belt ass'n

As a result of a recent visit from S. Sasaki, Canadian and B.C. president of the Black Belt Association, the Kelowna Judo Club has been privileged to join that illustrious organization.

Mr. Sasaki's interest was first roused in the local club when Eddie Wohl recently won the senior men's judo championship (up to brown belt) in B.C. "A club," he said, "which can produce youngsters like that after one year of training is the sort of club we want in our association."

So big and beautiful—
'55 PLYMOUTH
Brings you fresh, new high style with The Forward Look

Longest, lowest, smartest ever . . .

with new Motion-Design styling . . . today's best value!

Wherever you go, you see more and more new '55 Plymouths! Whenever one cruises by, you notice people glance admiringly at its impressive new length and brilliant new beauty! Already it has influenced the entire industry's stylists.

Modern as tomorrow! Everyone likes the look of action in each rakish angle. The sleek new Plymouth is so long and low—more than ten inches longer this year and barely five feet from roof to road.

A dream to drive! Motorists everywhere are applauding the increased visibility you get through the big New Horizon swept-back windshield. It's the first true wrap-around with posts that slant back to give you extra glass area at top, as well as at bottom.

For road-hugging stability, Plymouth for '55 is actually wider than it is high—front tires are spaced wider apart, rear springs are wider, too.

Liveller power! You'll hear many comments on the added horsepower provided this year in the new high-performance PowerFlow Six engine of the Plaza Club Sedan shown above. Plymouth also has new V-8 models for flashing performance.

Yet, with all its beauty, bigness, and extra-quality features, Plymouth is priced with the lowest! Look it over . . . check its value . . . and you'll see why the big swing is to Plymouth this year!

New carburetion in the thrifty Plymouth PowerFlow Six engine makes your fuel last longer . . . ensures more power under all driving conditions. Rugged construction means long engine life and low maintenance costs, too. Under the Plymouth beauty, you will find solid value.

Thriftest in the long run!

Manufactured in Canada by Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited

GEORGE O. VALE, MANAGERConstruction of school
at Westbank progressing

WESTBANK—Construction of the new $61,846 elementary school at Westbank is well underway and should be ready in time for the fall enrolment.

Set well back from George Pringle High School, the large flat-roofed structure is now completely closed in and the furnace is about to be hooked up. Contractor is John Seltenrich and he is employing local labor. Two Westbank firms have been granted sub-contracts, H. W. Zelinsky for painting and Charlie Hoskins, wiring and electrical fixtures. Barr and Anderson, of Kelowna, has the contract for heating, plumbing and roofing.

School will have a floor area of pensive type of window, but additional light will be easier on children's eyes.

Fluorescent lights will be installed, and floors covered with battle-ship linoleum. Automatic coal stoker is being installed for the hot water heating system. In addition to the five large classrooms, there is a supply room; nurses' room; staff room and office combined; waiting room and washrooms for pupils and staff. The outside is of rough cedar siding and will probably be stained green to match the landscape.

Westbank

WESTBANK—At the regular monthly meeting of the United Church Junior W.A., it was decided to hold a St. Patrick's Tea in the Community Hall on March 18.

Tom Evans, of Lloydminster, arrived March 1 to spend some weeks with his mother, Mrs. F. E. Evans.

J. L. Vaughan was taken seriously ill and taken to the Kelowna hospital. His son, Emmett, has arrived by air from Big River, Saskatchewan, to visit his father.

The Lakeview Heights Ladies' Auxiliary will meet in the fire hall on Tuesday evening, March 8.

The annual general meeting of the Board of Trade was held in the Community Hall Monday.

A mean high of 35.64 degrees and a mean low of 19.89, made February, 1955, a "typical" month. Comparison figures date back to 1899. Coldest February on record was in 1936 with a mean low of 5.1 degrees. Warmest was in 1924—mean high being 44.27. The coldest day in any February since 1899 was in the year 1907 when a minus 19 was recorded.

Churches and synagogues throughout Canada and United States will observe March 13 as Red Cross Sunday and March 12 as Red Cross Sabbath, it is announced by Leslie G. Mills, C.B.E., chairman of the national executive committee, the Canadian Red Cross Society. Red Cross branches, in communities across the nation, are planning additional functions to give these days special significance.

Branches throughout British Columbia, and into the Yukon Territory are conducting active campaigns for the annual Red Cross appeal. Dawson City, furthest north branch, has its Red Cross ensign flying high with the I.O.D.E. vigorously canvassing. In Whitehorse, booming northern town, the I.O.D.E. is also in charge of the campaign while in Atlin, in northern B.C., campaign chairman reports that the new Outpost Hospital opened in October, has been an inspiration to the community.

At the Coast, Nanaimo has voluntarily raised its quota from $7,500 to $10,000 and in an all-out effort are holding two-day golfing and bowling tournaments, with a ball planned large enough to need accommodation of the two hotels. In the meantime, heavy demand for supplies have been made to headquarters by many branches throughout the province. Returns during the next weeks are expected to definitely show results of the increasing interest.

East Kelowna

students' parley

EAST KELLOWNA—David Price, son of Mrs. S. D. Price, was one of the two students chosen from grade XII of the Kelowna High School, to attend the eighth annual school conference which took place at the University of British Columbia, last week.

Returning home Monday, David said the conference was educational and enjoyable. The sessions finished with a banquet held at the Lions Gate Hall.

A St. Patrick's tea has been arranged by the members of St. Mary's Parish Guild to take place Thursday, March 17, in the community hall at 2:30.

There will be a display of fancy-work, and a table of home cooking. A door prize will be given.

The popular Saturday night dance held in the community hall, brought a good crowd, with Johnnie Gortel and his music makers providing the music.

Friends of Mrs. Kolde will be pleased to hear she has returned from the Kelowna General Hospital. She is reported to be progressing favourably.

Mrs. A. W. Rowles spent the week-end in Kamloops, where she visited her son-in-law and daughter. Mr. and Mrs. E. Davis and baby son.

During the month of March there will be supervised instruction for badminton players in the Winfield Community Hall, and beginners are urged to take advantage of this service rendered by the club.

B.C. combs
range for wild horses

ORANBROOK, B.C.—Wild horses in the East Kootenay are heading for the last round-up. The tenth closing of the public range for this purpose will continue until mid-April.

Tango clearance was begun by the grazing section of British Columbia forest service in 1946 when an estimated 6,000 wild horses roamed the area. Only the most rugged could survive the six grassless months in the deep snow.

First closure resulted in removal of 1,000 horses. Most of these were shot, but a few of the more amenable were rounded up to be put into useful service.

Opinions of cattle-owners on range improvements due to the program have not been unanimous. Some are well satisfied, but others say they do not consider the range is producing at its maximum.

Costly spring damage by wild horses, voraciously hungry when new grass is rooting, is now fairly well controlled.

ANNOUNCE NEW WAY TO SHRINK PAINFUL HEMORRHOIDS

Science Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a famous scientific institute.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form under the name of Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores—money back guaranteed.

B.C. resources come under careful examination as engineers review projects that could help province

By Canadian Press

Utilization and development of British Columbia's resources, ranging from water power to people, has come under the searching examination of the annual B.C. resources conference.

About 250 delegates from all parts of the province heard reports on mining, recreation, fisheries, soil and agriculture, wildlife, forestry, and the resources of northern B.C.

The delegates heard George J. Smith of Vancouver, who made the basic survey for both the Klitmat and Kemano projects, say that several major power schemes were possible by using a similar technique to that of the Aluminum Company of Canada.

He said four power projects in northern B.C. have a potential up to 20,400,000 horsepower.

Mr. Smith said the Laird river could be diverted into the Skeena and the Peace River into the Fraser. The method of diverting one river into another offering better power potential was used successfully at the Alcan development.

YEAR-ROUND INDUSTRY

P. E. Paulson of J. H. Todd and Sons said there are thousands of barren streams in the province where fish might be cultivated, where university-trained scientists could successfully be employed.

He said a year-round program of fish farming would provide year-round employment for the 18,000 workers in the industry.

The industry exported more than 60 per cent of the catch last year which was worth more than $60,000,000.

Dr. C. H. Wright, consulting chemical engineer of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, told delegates a major problem facing the mining and metallurgical industry of today is the recruitment of young men to train for this profession in universities.

He said that only 34 mining engineers and 34 metallurgical engineers were included in 1,254 engineering students graduating in 1953.

On forests, the management operations on a sustained basis." He compared wages across Canada and said the average wage of a B.C. logger was $74 a week while lumberjacks in Ontario, Canada's best-paying province, earned $34 a week.

A number of people from Ellison attended the meeting last Monday in Vernon of the North Okanagan Beef Growers' Association.

C. Clement and son Ken, and Mrs. Arthur Geen and son Germain, left over the week-end for Kamloops where they will attend the Kamloops bull sale being held there this week.

The films shown were "Lady of the Lake," a picture on Kathy Archi-bald; "Hottest 500," a race car epic; "Home Town Olympic," a comedy from agriculture.

ELLISON—Interesting films were shown at the school last Friday. A smaller crowd than usual was in attendance possibly due to the cold weather and also the flu which has hit quite a few families.

Vernon Jubilee Hospital has deficit of $16,232

VERNON—Vernon Jubilee Hospital showed a net deficit of $16,232 for the past year, according to the president of the hospital board, Robert W. Ley, in his report to the annual meeting.

The board's estimates to BCHIS services to 138 patients during the last February were cut by $38,000 in spite of substantial wage increases and the 40 hour week being put in effect. But, Mr. Ley continued, it is expected that BCHIS will make the necessary adjustments after examining the records of the hospital.

"The chief matter to give serious attention to is the need for increased facilities," the president said, "particularly for the children's ward. We realize fully how inadequate these facilities are. The problem is acute and should be dealt with as soon as possible."

Plans provide for building over the present boiler room and laundry to provide an additional 30 beds for adult patients, an enlarged children's ward and increased laundry facilities.

Provincial government grants amount to 60 per cent of the cost, plus $1,000 per bed from federal sources, the balance being provided locally. The total cost would be between $175,000 and $200,000.

Mr. Ley touched briefly on the home care nursing service which provided nursing and housekeeping

Rutland AOTS fete ladies

RUTLAND—The monthly meeting of the Rutland A.O.T.S., held in the United Church basement hall on Wednesday evening was "Ladies Night," and there was a good attendance of members and their wives. Ladies of the Northern Circle served an excellent supper, after which there was a period of community singing, led by chairman Gordon Clark. A toast to the ladies was given by Ben Harris and responded to by Mrs. Art Geen. A number of interesting contests followed, all of which tested the mental powers of the members and guests. The evening wound up with one or two lively games.

Geoff. Walburn and Mr. and Mrs. F. Senger returned last week from an extended holiday in the USA, during which they visited New Orleans and other southern points.

Emmie Hunter and Sam Hunter left last week-end for Ontario, for an extended visit to Severn, Bridge, their boyhood home, and will also visit other points including Montreal. They expect to be away about six weeks.

Letters to the editor

Editor's note: We are glad to publish Dr. Moir's letter. We had long felt that the advocates of fluoridation were not doing their cause any good by keeping silent. As for the doctor's suggestion that we have given an "inordinately large amount of space" to those who are opposed to mass fluoridation of Kelowna's water supply, we would point out that these people may be "misdirected bigots," as the doctor suggests, but they are entitled to their opinions, misdirected as they may be, and they have every right to express them in our columns. (But, say there does seem to be a lot of them, doesn't there?) We are glad to reassure the doctor that these columns are equally available to those "thinking people in Kelowna who are guided by reason," among whom he includes himself.)

428 Lawrence Ave.
Kelowna, B.C.

The Editor, Kelowna Courier.

FLUORIDATION OF WATER
Dear Sir,—In view of the fact that you have devoted an inordinately large amount of space in your columns to letters from misguided individuals who are letting their emotions usurp the field of reason in regard to fluoridation, I would ask you to reprint the enclosed editorial from the January, 1955, issue of the Journal of Pediatrics. This journal is one of the most authoritative and respected medical journals published on this continent.

There must be at least a few of your readers who are being caused at least a few doubts by the many groundless charges which are being reiterated ad nauseam by an exceedingly vociferous and unformed minority. This editorial will reassure the great majority of thinking people in Kelowna who are guided by reason rather than by misdirected bigotry.

J. BRUCE MOIR, M.D.

EDITORIAL FROM JOURNAL OF PEDIATRICS—JANUARY 1955
Few proposed public health measures have been the subject of as much controversy and acrimony as the fluoridation of community water supplies to prevent dental caries. Despite the endorsement of the program by dental, medical and health scientific organizations, vociferous opposition exists.

Certain facts are clear and definite. In communities where there is an appreciable natural fluoride content in the water the extent of dental caries is only one third of that found in communities where fluorides are absent. Many examples could be quoted. An excellent one is two cities in northern Illinois. In Galesburg, where the natural fluoride content of the water is 1.8 parts per million (ppm), a survey of children 12 to 14 years of age showed 20 carious defects per 100 children, while in Waukegan, where the natural content is .05, the extent of caries reached 810 per 100 children. These children had been living and brought up in communities where the "public water supply had natural differences in the fluoride content."

Other studies with similar findings in a number of communities led to the proposal that fluoride be added to the water supply in communities where the content is less than 1 ppm. The suggestion that fluorides be incorporated in the diet because of their importance in the maintenance of teeth is not new, as, back in 1892 it was suggested by Crichton-Briggs in England. However, it has not been until recent years that fluoridation as a public health measure has been suggested, and it was not until 1945 that studies were started to determine the effect of fluoridation. Controlled studies in Grand Rapids, Michigan, Cranford, Ontario, Newburg, New York, Evanston, Illinois, Sheboygan, Wisconsin, and other cities continuing for from seven to nine years, have shown that the incidence of dental caries can be decreased roughly two-thirds in the 6-year-old age group, and one-half in the 8- to 12-year age group.

The results of these studies have led to a widespread movement, sponsored by medical and dental societies and departments of public health, to have fluorides added to the public water supply in communities where the natural content is less than 1 ppm. As a result, fluoridation is now being done in over one thousand communities with a total population of around 20,000,000. Both Chicago and St. Louis will start fluoridation in 1955, and there is every reason to believe that this population coverage will be rapidly extended in the next few years. There can be no question but that caries resistance is in some way related to the fluoride content of the water supply. Water fluoridated by nature, or by addition to make the content 1 ppm, produces the same 60 to 65 per cent reduction in caries.

STRONG OPPOSITION
Despite the fact that fluoridation has been more carefully studied than any previous proposed health program, there has been strong opposition which still exists. While most of this has been led by cultists, and those "congenitally resistant" on the basis of individual rights being more important than public good, there are still a few physicians and dentists who are somewhat skeptical of its value. Most of the objections have been on an emotional rather than a rational basis and reveal an ignorance of the background of the program. On the other hand, there have been some important questions raised. The most important is that fluorine might act as a poison, and the question is, could fluoridation cause acute or chronic poisoning? There are many substances necessary for health that are harmless in small quantities, but which become poisonous if used in large amounts. Iron, for example, which has been used for generations to prevent anemia, is of the greatest value when used in the proper dosage, and it is found in foods and water, but it has caused the death of children when taken accidentally in excessive amounts. The points is not whether sodium fluoride is a poison, but whether or not sodium fluoride in a concentration of one ppm is poisonous. Of the millions of people who for generations have been drinking water containing 1 ppm, not one has been shown to have suffered any harmful effects.

To be toxic the fluoride content of the water would have to be many hundred times this level. The idea has even been put forward that excessive fluoridation might be an easy method of sabotage. Shaw estimates that it would require 21 tons of fluorides to bring the content of the 210 millions of gallons of water used in Greater Boston on average summer day to 1 ppm. To raise this to a level that might cause acute toxicity (1000 ppm) would require the addition of 2100 tons, or fifty boxcar loads. The question of acute poisoning from fluoridation can be dismissed.

"MOTTLED TEETH"
More important is the question of chronic poisoning from the long-continued ingestion of fluoride. Could it lead to an increase of degenerative disease of a vascular nature, or even cancer, has been asked in some communities where the level of fluoride in the water is naturally high (8 to 10 ppm) there is a decided and recognized incidence of "mottled teeth," which is esthetically disfiguring. An incidence of disfiguring mottled enamel, however, has never been seen in a community where the natural level is 1 ppm. The condition has first been noted to appear when the natural level is above 1.5 ppm. Carefully controlled studies of communities with high and low fluoride contents, where the inhabitants have been drinking the water for generations, fail to show in the communities with a high level any increase in the mortality, or decrease in longevity rates, or an increase in the incidence of cardiovascular or kidney diseases, of cancer, or of any other disease. One report, much publicized by opponents, purporting to show an increased incidence of cardiovascular diseases in Grand Rapids after fluoridation, was found to be based on distorted statistics, and a careful reevaluation of the statistics failed to show he increased incidence. So much for the question of poisoning.

CHEAPEST METHOD
Another question that deserves consideration is why the value of fluoridation is chiefly on the development of the teeth in young children, is it desirable to fluoridate the entire water supply which is chiefly used for other purposes, such as washing, bathing, lawn sprinkling, etc. Fluoridation of the communal water supply is the recommended method of procedure because it is by far the cheapest way of bringing to all children the benefits of fluoride. Further, it is the only method by which the daily intake can be simply and effectively controlled. The cost of one filling of a carious tooth will pay for thirty years of fluoridation for that child. The four-time topical application of fluoride to the teeth is less effective and much more expensive, and, if applied to all children, could not be carried out by our present number of dentists and dental hygienists. To anyone unbiased by emotion who studies the evidence, the conclusion is inevitable that fluoridation is a safe and sound public health program for reducing dental caries. In every community where the natural fluoride content is less than 1 ppm it should have the support of the pediatricians, who have always pioneered and supported preventive medicine. Dental caries is the most common physical defect found in every health survey of children that has been made. It must not be forgotten, however, that it is a preventive measure with quantitative limitations, and the most question still remains as to what causes dental caries.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

The Editor,
The Kelowna Courier.
Dear Sir,—In my capacity as volunteer public relations chairman for the Boy Scouts Association of B.C., I want to thank you and the Kelowna Courier very much, on behalf of our provincial council, for that very wonderful editorial on Scouting in your February 24 issue headed "Excellent Alternative."

This is something that needs to be said more often by the press in British Columbia in the interests of our future good citizenship. We think so well of this editorial in our Scouting circles that we are going to have it reprinted and mailed to all publications in British Columbia. In addition, we plan to reprint it in our annual report booklet for the annual meeting of our provincial council here in Vancouver on March 18.

Thanks again—on behalf of Scouting in British Columbia.
Yours sincerely,
L. C. WAY.

MINORITY VOTE

The Editor,
The Courier.
Dear Sir,—I am not opposed to fluorine as such any more than I am opposed to Epsom salts or castor oil, but I do object to being forced to consume any of these medications whether I want to or not. For those who wish to have fluorine added to their drinking water it seems it is entirely possible for them to enjoy this luxury exclusively without forcing everybody else in Kelowna to not only drink the stuff but wash in it also.

I enclose a half page ad from a Vancouver paper which, after expounding the many virtues of fluoridation states and I quote: "To assist you in obtaining results like those shown above we offer a patented home dispenser that will accurately and automatically introduce the optimum amount of fluorine into your home water supply. The cost is most reasonable; in many cases much less than the amount of dental work that would otherwise be required." I hope, Mr. Editor, you will be good enough to publish this letter, and that the taxpayers will stop, look and think. Remember, the vote in favor of fluorine was only a minority vote.

ROGER J. SUGARS.

The Editor,
The Kelowna Courier.
Dear Sir,—On behalf of the Central Okanagan Boy Scouts Association I wish to convey to you our sincere appreciation of the recent publicity you gave the Boy Scout movement during Boy Scout week. The page you devoted to Boy Scouts was excellent and will be long remembered especially by those active in promoting this work. Thank you again.

EQUALIZATION OF RAILWAY RATES

Publication by Canadian Railways of the new equalized class rate tariffs, effective March 1, marked a major victory in the prolonged effort to eliminate the inequalities in the rail rate structure in Western Canada as compared to the rate structure in Eastern Canada. Historically class rates, which provide the ceiling or maximum rates that the railways may charge, have been generally higher in Western Canada than in the east. After prolonged hearings the Royal Commission on Transportation recommended that the Canadian rate structure be equalized. Extended hearings were also held before the Board of Transport Commissioners which resulted in the Board ordering the new equalized class rate scale as set out in the new tariffs. The British Columbia government played an active part at these hearings.

As well as eliminating regional discrimination, equalization cancels the "distributing" rates, which were special lower rates given to distributing centres, thus placing the smaller centres on an equal footing with the larger ones.

Only a small portion (less than 20 percent) of the total rail traffic moves on class rates, the balance moving on special rates such as commodity rates, competitive rates, etc., which are set to reflect the conditions of a particular movement. While it is difficult to estimate the savings in rates, an estimate based on a 1952 study indicates that the annual savings to British Columbia shippers and receivers may approach three-quarters of a million dollars per year and as many commodity rates tend to be influenced by the class rate structure it is clear that B.C. will benefit materially from equalization. Equalization has been introduced in two steps. First an interim step reducing western rates by five percent and now the implementation of the new scale in all parts of Canada. The following examples, using the new first class rates, demonstrate the overall effect of equalization.

The rate as it would be without equalization shown in brackets. From Vancouver to Toronto $9.73 ($10.28), Victoria to Toronto $10.00 ($10.46), Vancouver to Regina $4.74 ($5.76), Victoria to Regina

$5.19 ($6.12), Prince Rupert to Regina $6.00 ($6.55), Kelowna to Regina $3.35 ($3.59). While most British Columbia rates drop, a few rates will bear minor upward adjustments.

Equalization marks a further step in the removal of the differential between western rates and eastern rates against which the government of British Columbia has consistently fought. Previously British Columbia succeeded in eliminating from the freight rate structure the so-called "mountain differential" which applied British Columbia with rates above the prairie level which was already higher than the eastern level. A similar form of discrimination, existed in passenger rates and British Columbia's successful fight in 1953 to have this discrimination removed has resulted in considerable saving to rail travellers in British Columbia.

Many freight rate and traffic problems remain to be resolved; some, indeed, arising from equalization itself. As in the past, the government of the province of British Columbia will do everything in its power to see that justice and equity are incorporated into our rail rate structure.

Latest report of Okanagan historical group features growth, origin of Kelowna

This year Kelowna celebrates its fiftieth anniversary of incorporation. With this in mind, much of the 18th report of the Okanagan Historical Society, just issued, deals with the origin and growth of the Regatta City. Appropriately enough, it carries an aerial photograph of Kelowna on its title pages, and the two following pages bear greetings from Mayor J. J. Ladd, and O. L. Jones, M.P., honorary president of the society.

Throughout the report are a number of articles in subject sequence part representative of the whole reprinted from the society's third Okanagan report, for the benefit of many who do not have access to the early issues. Other articles deal with other thor of "A Bonnie Fechter". On page 21, accompanying articles by C. C. Kelley and J. G. John, is a photograph of Layer Lake. It is a steep cliff of overlapping flows of basalt, described as "a geological quirk of nature, which is less well-known than it deserves to be". Mr. John writes, "It seems strange to me that this phenomenon has not been emphasized as a tourist attraction."

"A note on spelling" gives documentary evidence for the spelling Pandory instead of Pandoc.

"The lakes of the Okanagan" by James C. Agnew is reprinted from the third report, as are "The First steamboat on Okanagan Lake," by Leonard Norris, and "The Shuswap and Okanagan Railway" by George H. McKillop.

Hester E. White gives a vivid account of early travel in "On Okanagan Lake in 1882".

The report is rich in biographical material: "Old Man Kelowna" by F. T. Marriage; "Arthur Day," by Georgina Malsonville; "First white girl born in Okanagan," by Mrs. A. Gatten; "Kelowna's first mayor—H. W. Raymer" by Hazel McDougall; "Kelowna's first schoolteacher—D. W. Sutherland" by Dorothea Allison.

A long chapter by Frank Buckland deals with "Kelowna—commercial and social". Early telephone history in Vernon and elsewhere in Okanagan is told by M. J. Conroy, superintendent of the Okanagan Telephone Company, and Major H. R. Denison. There are articles on church history (Anglican, Roman Catholic, Baptist, United churches), "Outline history of Similkameen" brings the story of that area to date.

OGO NOT FORGOTTEN—Noel Robinson of Vancouver has seen to that. There are three fine chapters on the native peoples of the valley: "Food and medicines of the Okanagan" by Louise Gabriel; "Some archaeological notes on the Kelowna area," by Warren C. Caldwell, University of Washington; and "An Indian Historian" by Mrs. M. A. Kenny of Nanaimo.

In addition to all this there is a section dealing with Okanagan references in recent books, "In Memoriam," membership list, and an excellent index prepared by Verna Cawston.

Copies may be obtained from A. E. Berry and H. R. Denison, Vernon; L. L. Kerry, J. D. Whitham, Kelowna; J. B. Weeks, Penticton; T. A. Morris, Lumby; A. Marshall, Armstrong; or from the treasurer, G. P. Bagnall, Vernon.

GLANWORTH, Ont.—A former cheese factory in this little village nine miles north of St. Thomas has become the distributing point for countless numbers of rare aquarium fish.

Fifteen years ago Alan G. Cliffe started a pet supply business in one room in Montreal. Today the outfit has blossomed here into a country-wide concern for the wholesaling of ornamental fish and aquarium supplies.

The original plan was to make the new business a subsidiary of a fish-rearing firm in Allendale, N.J., but Cliffe and V. A. Scauro of the American company finally decided to set up the Canadian Aquarium Supply Company.

The little cheese factory proved ideal for the uses of its new owners. The insulated curing room is used for tropical fish which can only survive at a high and steady temperature. The larger working area of the plant is used to house the harder goldfish.

Supplies are maintained by a fortnightly run by special tank-truck from New Jersey often carrying 100,000 fish and by a fortnightly flight by chartered aircraft from Tampa, Florida.

The fish are handled with great care throughout their journey. The care of the tank-truck which carries the tropical fish is insulated and heated to 80 degrees Fahrenheit. The fish from Florida travel in corrugated cardboard boxes with plastic liners, each aerated by hoses fed by a compressor. The temperature change during flight is less than one degree.

At Glanworth, 75 tanks for the tropics are aerated by an electrical pump but a gas-driven pump stands by for emergencies.

Twenty-one store installations throughout Ontario are serviced weekly by truck. Toronto, Niagara Falls, St. Catharines, Welland, Hamilton, Kitchener, London, Sarnia and Windsor are some of the cities visited. A further 43 installations are on order.

Beyond a 150-mile radius of Glanworth goldfish are delivered by express and tropicals by air.

Community Chest reports

(Editor's note: This is another in a series of reports from one of the participating agencies in the Community Chest. Further reports will be published from time to time in The Courier.)

SOCIETY FOR RETARDED CHILDREN
By R. C. GORE, President

During the year 1954, our society operated a school for retarded children in the ladies' lounge of the Aquatic. Six children of varying ages were taught. The number has now risen to nine which is just about all that one teacher can handle without assistance.

The school was operated for nine months being closed during the summer when the building was required for other purposes. Our teacher, Mrs. Middleton, was sent to Woodlands School for a six weeks course during the holidays. Much valuable information was gained, which will be of great assistance in helping these children to become useful citizens.

Valuable aid was given to our school by individual volunteer workers and also by service clubs and organizations. Many supplies and aids to education were donated by these organizations.

Our society has taken part in the formation of a provincial organization. This provincial society has only just come into official being, but even so, considerable ground work has been laid towards eventual negotiations with the government. It is hoped that through this provincial society, all societies such as ours will receive grants from the government.

During the year we collected a total of $2,745 of which $1,500 was received from the Community Chest. The balance was raised by way of the sale of memberships in the society at $1.00 each. In addition to this, $500 was received as a donation towards a building. This money has been set aside for this purpose and it is hoped that more donations will be received. It has been learned that we may not be able to continue using the Aquatic building much longer and then new quarters will become a real necessity.

The main items of our expenses were salary to the teacher and janitor amounting to $2,314.75. Other operating expenses of the school amounted to $285.99 with $120 being spent on supplies. Total expenses for the year were $2,894.68 which left a deficit of $149.68. This deficit had to be met out of 1955 income.

We would like to say that without the aid of the Community Chest we would not have been able to carry on this very necessary beneficial work.

Blood donations in B.C. valued at $8,000,000

Unknown donors have made a gift of $8,000,000 to the people of British Columbia during the past eight years. This is the value of blood donated through the Red Cross Blood Donor clinics, cost of collection and laboratory charges borne by the B.C. Red Cross to enable blood to be given free to any hospital patient needing this service.

Thousands of donors all over the province, have participated in this free gift of some 320,000 pints of blood since the blood transfusion service was inaugurated in 1947. Previous to this, patients needing such life-giving fluid paid the basic charge of $25 a pint, a charge that is made in districts where the Red Cross has not established a free service.

During the past year, 52,000 pints of blood, a gift of $1,500,000 from B.C. donors, provided free blood and plasma for 21,000 patients. There are now 99 B.C. hospitals on the Red Cross Blood Donor list, their needs supplied through donor service. Last year nearly 300 clinics, both mobile and city, kept this service operating.

Records show that each transfused patient averages two-pints of blood. In Vancouver General Hospital, largest of all institutions served in Canada, operations requiring this miracle fluid average 1,800 monthly, with an additional 800 in the emergency department.

Another free service is the prenatal R.H. tests for prospective mothers and last year 22,300 were made in the Red Cross laboratories. This cost $165,000, willingly borne by the Red Cross to save the lives of scores of mothers and infants.

12,000 gallons of paint will be needed to paint the interior of the new 22,500-ton Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Britain, which is due in service in 1956.

Millions being spent in search for Alberta oil

From the U.S. border to within a few miles of the Northwest Territories, Alberta is alive with wildcat oil drillers, hoping to find new oil or gas fields as rich as Leduc, Redwater, Pembina or Pincher Creek. Millions of dollars are being spent in the exploration work, a good part of it to determine the limits of known oil-bearing areas, but most of it in the search for new fields. Incidental to the huge costs involved in exploring and developing new fields is the construction of roads and railways which often run into hundreds of thousands of dollars before a drill can be sunk. So many companies are engaged in the oil and gas search that there is a shortage of drilling rigs and crews to man them.

High-level military talks are being held between the United States and Chinese Nationalists at Taipei, Formosa, and newspapers there are speculating that one of the items being discussed is creation of a joint Nationalist-U.S. command in that area.

Among Americans taking part were Admiral Robert Carney, U.S. chief of naval operations, Admiral Felix Stump, commander of the Pacific Fleet, and Vice-Admiral Alfred Price, commander of the 7th Fleet. Also at the conference were Nationalist China's foreign minister George Yeh, defence minister Yu Ta-wei and the acting chief of the general staff, Gen. Peng Meng-Chi.

The talks followed ratification of the mutual defence pact between the Nationalist China and the United States. Nationalist quarters appeared confident of a big boost in volume of American military aid to Formosa.

Reports of a Chinese Communist gunboat attack on a Nationalist island in the Matsu group were received. The Nationalists claimed they repelled it. But there was speculation that the Nationalists might be abandoning their outposts in the Matsu Islands less than four miles from the mainland near Fochow.

ISRAEL BORDER CLASH

The United Nations security council has let Israel know that she faces strong condemnation unless she can produce a bona fide defence of her role in the bloody border incidents. The 11-power council held an urgent session at New York to consider last week's armed clash near Gaza, Egypt, in which 39 Egyptians and eight Israelis were killed.

All the council members—except Russia which sat silent—indicated that on the basis of preliminary reports they held Israel responsible. The council agreed to postpone further debate until the arrival at New York of Canada's Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the truce commission in Palestine, who is coming to give a personal report on his investigation of the incident.

The president of the council, Selim Serper of Turkey, urged both sides to "maintain calmness and tranquility and abstain from the use of force."

Egypt asked for the urgent UN meeting, accusing Israel of premeditated aggression against Egyptian forces in violation of the 1948 armistice agreement. Israel quickly replied with a charge that Egypt had continuously violated the pact.

Military sources in Jordan, another Arab state, charged on Saturday that five Arabs were killed by Israeli troops after a raid across the Jordan border. They said 20 Israeli soldiers kidnapped the Jordanians and killed them while carrying them into Israeli territory. A sixth man, who was released, was quoted by Arab Legion sources as saying the killings were revenge for the killing of three Israelis in that area recently.

HAWAIIAN ERUPTION
Sugar cane fields, timber and several homes were buried by two rivers of lava moving slowly to the sea after volcanic eruptions and earthquakes in eastern Hawaii. Damages were estimated at $2,000,000. Hundreds of residents of the district around Pahoa were homeless.

Two lava streams cut a two-mile wide swath across the rich cane land for four miles. Much of the cane acreage which provided a living for farmers was under 10 feet of smoking lava.

TALK LABOR UNITY

Merger talks between chiefs of Canada's two biggest union bodies, aimed at merging about 1,000,000 workers into a single congress, opened Wednesday at Ottawa.

With an eye on amalgamation in 1966, leaders of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Canadian Congress of Labor got down to negotiations at a meeting of the TLC-CCL "unity" committee that has been functioning several months.

A treaty providing against raiding between the congresses was signed late last year. Officials of both congresses are optimistic that this week's discussions will have the same effect as recent negotiations in the United States, where leaders of the AFL-CIO "unity" committee that has been functioning several months.

The U.S. amalgamation is due to be completed this year, but Canadian spokesmen believe the progress in this country will be somewhat slower. They believe a joint convention to set up the unified congress may be held in the spring of 1966.

NOVEL TWIST

About half the school teachers in Irving, Texas, walked out on their jobs last week in a dispute with the school board which had dismissed school superintendent John L. Beard. But a lot of students kept going to school.

Substitute teachers, parents and older brothers jumped in to help keep buses rolling and classes going. Students who stayed in school said operations were smooth and normal. But some students stayed away saying things were far from smooth.

Don Shelby, 18, president of the student council, told the senior class to "quit acting like adults" to quit arguing or taking sides and to stay in school and act like students.

A pioneer newspaper man who as a soldier in 1885 watched Louis Riel hanged, Charles P. Halpin, 90, died in hospital at Calgary. He came from his native London, Ont., in 1882 to start a career in the west as laborer, printer and publisher. He helped found the Calgary Albertan and for 30 years published the weekly Lacombe Western Globe. For more than a year, at the turn of the century, he published a newspaper at Portage La Prairie. He purchased the Lacombe Globe in 1890 after his stay in Calgary; but returned to Calgary in 1896 and retired at age 83.

Geo. Whittaker re-elected head Rutland Scouts

RUTLAND—The annual meeting of the Rutland Boy Scout Group Committee was held in the high school and George Whittaker was re-elected chairman for a second year by acclamation.

Jack Johnson was re-elected vice-chairman, and Percy Geen will again serve as secretary-treasurer for another year.

Financial statement showed a net balance of $97 for the past year, and a report on the financial drive for this year showed that $212 had already come in, with quite a few canvassers to hear from. The meeting voted to authorize the purchase of three tents for the troop, and also voted $25 for the Central Okanagan District Council funds.

Squadmaster Bert Chichester, gave a report on the troop's progress. There are now 30 boys in the troop, divided into four patrols, the Beavers, Eagles, Owls and Foxes. The troop also has over $80 in hand from the proceeds of a bottle drive. The boys will buy a tent from their funds, so the troop will thus have four new tents for use in the coming year. The other members of the group committee for the coming year will be: D. H. Campbell, R. Milne, R. G. Bury, T. G. Tuovila, A. W. Gray, and C. Hayashi.

Westbank man injured in fall from truck

WESTBANK—Hjalmar Jonsson, who is employed by the public works department, was seriously injured on Wednesday, when the truck on which he was engaged in road sanding started up suddenly and he fell off.

The driver of the truck drove off some distance before he discovered that Mr. Jonsson was no longer on behind. Mr. Jonsson sustained a fractured hip and broken ankle.

Rutland High School weekly review

JUNIOR BOYS BASKETBALL

As a preliminary to the B-A Oilers-Penticton Omegas game junior boys won over Kelowna by the score of 25-18. Again as a preliminary to the Golden Owls-Vancouver College game Rutland juniors edged out Kelowna juniors 24-22.

BADMINTON

Twelve Rutland high school badminton students played in Salmon Arm recently. Joan Motowyo won the ladies' singles in the tournament in Vernon over the weekend.

ANNUAL SOCIETY

The second picture of the annual society's picture-puzzle contest went on view last week. It only costs one dime to enter and you may win a prize.

Mr. Campbell gave a short talk recently on the idea of starting a "Future Teachers Club".

The Drama Club recently presented a one-act play. Those took part were Glen Witter, Cynthia Russo, Helen Simla, Kerry Claxton. Play was directed by Judy Shun-ter.

The Junior Red Cross canvassed the Rutland district for the Blood

Donors Clinic. Members also ordered a tape recording of the South Korean Junior Red Cross.

SENIOR STUDENTS COUNCIL
Bank balance at February 21, $27.41. The next party will be held at the school on March 18. PRESS CLUB

The press club held a successful amateur concert at the high school. Winner was Teddy Wageman, singing "You Belong to Me". The club made a profit of $22.30.
